

From: Mike Ezekiel
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/1/02 10:31am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I have no great love for the way Microsoft does business. They essentially did the same thing Apple and other computer companies have done through the 80's - they stole their ideas from others. The result is, that they have been highly successful and a dominant force in the industry. But, that's not what I'm writing about.

Fairness! It is unfair to go after Microsoft when you have the bloodsuckers at AOL doing whatever they please. I would like to know what happened with that 18 Billion dollar lawsuit against them. Swept under the rug? I have not heard anything about it. Lots of states also had lawsuits against them. And believe me, those were valid lawsuits. I owned my own computer company in 1999 - 2000, and we had nothing but problems with AOL software. Causing hardware problems and essentially taking over the computer and not allowing other dial-up software to work properly.

So, unless your going to be fair across the board! Leave Microsoft alone!!!
Settle, and let Microsoft innovate!

Mike Ezekiel
Concerned IT specialist